

Acknowledgement and Disclaimer for PRIMES GPP Training Package

This GPP training package was prepared within the context of the PRIMES project co-funded by the European Commission Intelligent Energy Europe programme.

The material can be used to train procurers, to increase implementation of energy efficient procurement in practices.

Terms of use

The material is free to access and use, provided that:

- It is used in a proper and non-deceitful manner;
- The logos of the partners are excluded if it is used in training initiatives outside the project;
- Authorship is in all cases acknowledged.

To acknowledge authorship, interested parties must include a slide, at the start or the end of the presentation, with the PRIMES logo and a text such as:

If the material is used in full: "The training material was produced by ICLEI within the context of the PRIMES project (www.primes-eu.net).", or

If the material is used as the basis: "The training material was produced using the materials developed by ICLEI within the context of the PRIMES project (www.primes-eu.net)."

The PRIMES GPP training package is also available as slides and text files. You can request them by writing to Sarah Sohl Rasmussen sasra@holb.dk providing information on: the training seminar where the material would be used, training provider, purpose, location and date.

In exchange, you will have to agree to report back to sasra@holb.dk on their training activities, what parts of the PRIMES GPP training package were used and how the materials could be improved.

Disclaimer

The PRIMES project accepts no liability for any actions and and/or decisions based on the content of this training material, nor any proper or improper use thereof by third parties.